

Barrister - Privacy Notice - General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”)

Please read the following information carefully. This privacy notice contains details of the information collected, stored and otherwise processed about you and the reasons for the processing. It also tells you who I share this information with, the security mechanisms I have put in place to protect your data and how to contact me in the event you need further information.

Who Am I?

I, Stuart Wright, collect, use and am responsible for personal information about you. When I do this I am the ‘controller’ of this information for the purposes of the GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018.

If you need to contact me about your data or the processing carried out you can use the contact details at the end of this document.

What information do I collect?

Information collected

When carrying out the provision of legal services or providing a reference, I collect some or all of the following personal information about you:

- a. personal details
- b. family details
- c. lifestyle and social circumstances
- d. goods and services
- e. financial details
- f. education, training and employment details
- g. physical or mental health details
- h. racial or ethnic origin
- i. political opinions
- j. religious, philosophical or other beliefs
- k. trade union membership
- l. sex life or sexual orientation
- m. genetic data
- n. biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person
- o. criminal proceedings, outcomes and sentences, and related security measures
- p. other personal data relevant to instructions to provide legal services, including data specific to the instructions in question.

The above categories of information may come from you directly but may also be obtained from third parties, such as legal professionals or experts, my clients, members of the public, your family and friends, witnesses, courts and other tribunals, investigators, government departments, regulators, public records and registers.

Use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) Tools

We may use reputable artificial intelligence (AI) tools to support legal research, document review, and the efficient management of information relevant to your case. Any use of AI is carried out under our supervision and control, and we take steps to ensure that personal data is processed lawfully, fairly, and securely. We do not use AI tools to make automated decisions about you, and we do not permit AI systems to determine case strategy or legal outcomes. Where AI tools are used, they are applied solely to assist the barrister in delivering high-quality legal services, and only in accordance with our data protection obligations.

Sources of information

The personal information I obtain may include information which has been obtained from:

- other legal professionals, which may include another member of chambers instructed as a devil in the relevant matter
- experts and other witnesses
- prosecution authorities
- courts and tribunals
- trainee barristers
- clients
- family and associates of the person whose personal information I am processing
- in the event of complaints, the Head of Chambers, other members of Chambers who deal with complaints, the Bar Standards Board, and the Legal Ombudsman
- other regulatory authorities
- current, past or prospective employers
- education and examining bodies
- business associates, professional advisers and trade bodies, e.g. the Bar Council
- the intended recipient, where you have asked me to provide a reference
- the general public in relation to the publication of legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals
- data processors, such as my Chambers staff, IT support staff, email providers, data storage providers
- public sources, such as the press, public registers and law reports
- there may also be other sources of information which I cannot foresee at the stage of preparing this privacy notice

Whether information has to be provided by you, and why

If I have been instructed by you or on your behalf on a case or if you have asked for a reference, your personal information has to be provided, to enable me to provide you with advice or representation or the reference, and to enable me to comply with my professional obligations, and to keep accounting records. This may also be necessary if I am instructed to advise a client and you are the opposing party or otherwise connected to the case and your personal information is material to the work I am required to carry out.

How I use your personal information: Purposes

I may use your personal information for the following purposes:

- i. to provide legal services to my clients, including the provision of legal advice and representation in courts, tribunals, arbitrations, and mediations
- ii. to keep accounting records and carry out office administration
- iii. to take or defend legal or regulatory proceedings or to exercise a lien
- iv. to respond to potential complaints or make complaints
- v. to check for potential conflicts of interest in relation to future potential cases
- vi. to promote and market my services
- vii. to carry out anti-money laundering and terrorist financing checks
- viii. to train other barristers and when providing work-shadowing opportunities
- ix. to respond to requests for references
 - x. when procuring goods and services
- xi. to publish legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals
- xii. as required or permitted by law.

The legal basis for processing your personal information

I rely on the following as the lawful bases on which I collect and use your personal information:

- If you have consented to the processing of your personal information, then I may process your information for the Purposes set out above to the extent to which you have consented to me doing so.
- If you are a client, processing is necessary for the performance of a contract for legal services or in order to take steps at your request prior to entering into a contract.
- In relation to information which is in categories (g) to (o) above (these being categories which are considered to include particularly sensitive information and which include information about criminal convictions or proceedings) I rely on your consent for any processing for the purposes set out in purposes (ii), (iv), (vi), (viii) and (ix) above. I need your consent to carry out processing of this data for these purposes. However, if you do not consent to processing for purposes (iv) and (ix) (responding to potential complaints and providing a reference) I will be unable to take your case or to provide a reference. This is because I need to be able to retain all the material about your case until there is no prospect of a complaint and to provide an informed and complete reference.

- In relation to information in categories (g) to (o) above (these being categories which are considered to be particularly sensitive information and include information about criminal convictions or proceedings), I am entitled by law to process the information where the processing is necessary for legal proceedings, legal advice, or otherwise for establishing, exercising or defending legal rights.
- In default of your consent I rely on my legitimate interest and/or the legitimate interests of my client(s) or of a third party in carrying out the processing for the Purposes set out above but will limit the data that I process to that which I am sent or that which I reasonably require in the circumstances of the particular case.
- In certain circumstances processing may be necessary in order that I can comply with a legal obligation to which I am subject (including carrying out anti-money laundering or terrorist financing checks).
- The processing is necessary to publish judgments or other decisions of courts or tribunals.

Who will I share your personal information with?

If you are a client, some of the information you provide will be protected by legal professional privilege unless and until the information becomes public in the course of any proceedings or otherwise. As a barrister I have an obligation to keep your information confidential, except where it otherwise becomes public or is disclosed as part of the case or proceedings.

It may be necessary to share your information with the following:

- data processors, such as my Chambers staff, IT support staff, email providers, data storage providers
- other legal professionals
- experts and other witnesses
- prosecution authorities
- courts and tribunals
- the staff in my chambers
- trainee barristers
- clients
- family and associates of the person whose personal information I am processing
- in the event of complaints, the Head of Chambers, other members of Chambers who deal with complaints, the Bar Standards Board, and the Legal Ombudsman

- other regulatory authorities
- current, past or prospective employers
- education and examining bodies
- business associates, professional advisers and trade bodies, e.g. the Bar Council
- the intended recipient, where you have asked me to provide a reference.
- the general public in relation to the publication of legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals.

I may be required to provide your information to regulators, such as the Bar Standards Board, the Financial Conduct Authority or the Information Commissioner's Office. In the case of the Information Commissioner's Office, there is a risk that your information may lawfully be disclosed by them for the purpose of any other civil or criminal proceedings, without my consent or yours, which includes privileged information.

I may also be required to disclose your information to the police or intelligence services, where required or permitted by law.

Please be assured that I do not sell your data to third parties for marketing purposes.

Transfer of your information outside the European Economic Area (EEA)

This privacy notice is of general application and as such it is not possible to state whether it will be necessary to transfer your information out of the EEA in any particular case or for a reference. However, if you reside outside the EEA or your case or the role for which you require a reference involves persons or organisations or courts and tribunals outside the EEA then it may be necessary to transfer some of your data to that country outside of the EEA for that purpose. If you are in a country outside the EEA or if the instructions you provide come from outside the EEA then it is inevitable that information will be transferred to those countries. If this applies to you and you wish additional precautions to be taken in respect of your information please indicate this when providing initial instructions.

Some countries and organisations outside the EEA have been assessed by the European Commission and their data protection laws and procedures found to show adequate protection. The list can be found here. Most do not. If your information has to be transferred outside the EEA, then it may not have the same protections and you may not have the same rights as you would within the EEA.

I may transfer your personal information to the following which are located outside the European Economic Area (EEA):

- Cloud data storage services based in the USA who have agreed to comply with the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield, in order to enable me to store your data and/or backup copies of your data so that I may access your data when they need to. The USA does not have the same data protection laws as the EU but the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield has been recognised by the European Commission as providing adequate protection. To obtain further details of that protection see https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/eu-us-privacy-shield_en.

- Cloud data storage services based in Switzerland, in order to enable me to store your data and/or backup copies of your data so that I may access your data when I need to. Switzerland does not have the same data protection laws as the EU but has been recognised by the European Commission as providing adequate protection; see https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/adequacy-protection-personal-data-non-eu-countries_en.

If I decide to publish a judgment or other decision of a Court or Tribunal containing your information then this will be published to the world. This would normally only happen if the decision is already in the public domain, which would happen unless the court proceedings were 'closed'.

I will not otherwise transfer personal information outside the EEA except as necessary for providing legal services or for any legal proceedings.

If you would like any further information please use the contact details at the end of this document.

Security measures

Publication of details about my security arrangements would risk their compromise, but my accounts, equipment, premises and records are all backed-up, encrypted, locked, password-protected, secured and/or subject to anti-virus and firewall protection as appropriate and having regard to Bar Council guidance on IT issues (see here). Furthermore, where my chambers acts as a data processor on my behalf it does so in accordance with GDPR-compliant constitutional, contractual, technical and organisational arrangements, policies and procedures and subject to guarantees and obligations of confidentiality. In this regard, the clerks and staff in my chambers and my chambers' IT support staff provide me with assistance and support and communicate and liaise with others on my behalf and I also use my chambers' IT systems, including email servers, fee, diary, practice-management and record-keeping software, internet and intranet, network and other shared drives and servers.

What is my retention policy with respect to your personal data?

I will normally store all your information:

1 CROWN OFFICE ROW

- Until at least 1 year after the expiry of any relevant limitation period (which will usually be no more than 16 years by reason of section 14B of the Limitation Act 1980, but may be longer where the case includes information relating to a minor) calculated from the date of the last item of work carried out, the date of the last payment received or the date on which all outstanding payments are written off, whichever is the latest.
- The balancing of legitimate interests in retention is a matter of some complexity. I have determined this retention policy by reference to my experience of the profile of cases I undertake combined with my professional obligations to keep records and to retain indemnity insurance (and as appropriate to obtain re-insurance) which is required to be held for when any claim is made. The information may be needed for any potential legal proceedings or dealing with any complaint that may be made. Your data will be held securely and will not be used for automated decision making or marketing purposes. Your data will not normally be accessed or reviewed during the retention period and this will only happen if a legitimate reason should arise to make it necessary.
- At the end of this retention period I will review the position and the data will be marked for deletion or marked for retention for a further period. Any subsequent retention is likely to occur only where the information is needed for legal proceedings, regulatory matters or active complaints. Deletion will be carried out (without further notice to you) as soon as reasonably practicable after the data is marked for deletion.
- I will store some of your information which I need to carry out conflict checks for the rest of my career. However, this is likely to be limited to your name and contact details/ the name of the case/anything else. This will not include any information within categories (g) to (o) above.
- Information related to anti-money laundering checks will be retained until five years after the completion of the transaction or the end of the business relationship, whichever is the later;
- Names and contact details held for marketing purposes will be stored indefinitely or until I or my clerks become aware or am/are informed that the individual has ceased to be a potential client.

Consent

As explained above, I am relying on your explicit consent to process your information in categories (g) to (o) above. You provided this consent when you agreed that I would provide legal services/you asked me to provide a reference.

You have the right to withdraw this consent at any time, but this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing activity I have carried out prior to you withdrawing your consent. However, where I also rely on other bases for processing your information, you may not be able to prevent processing of your data. For example, if you have asked me to work for you and I have spent time on your case, you may owe me money which I will be entitled to claim.

If you have not consented then I am relying on the legitimate interests set out above. This will usually be the case where you are an opponent of a client of mine in a case or where you are otherwise connected with that case and I need to process your data in order to fulfil my instructions.

If there is an issue with the processing of your information, please contact my clerks using the contact details below.

Your Rights

Under the GDPR, you have a number of rights that you can exercise in certain circumstances. These are free of charge. In summary, you may have the right to:

- Ask for access to your personal information and other supplementary information;
- Ask for correction of mistakes in your data or to complete missing information I hold on you;
- Ask for your personal information to be erased, in certain circumstances;
- Receive a copy of the personal information you have provided to me or have this information sent to a third party. This will be provided to you or the third party in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format, e.g. a Word file;
- Object at any time to processing of your personal information for direct marketing;
- Object in certain other situations to the continued processing of your personal information;
- Restrict my processing of your personal information in certain circumstances;
- Request not to be the subject to automated decision-making which produces legal effects that concern you or affects you in a significant way.

If you want more information about your rights under the GDPR please see the Guidance from the Information Commissioners Office on Individual's rights under the GDPR.

If you want to exercise any of these rights, please:

- Use the contact details at the end of this document;
- I may need to ask you to provide other information so that you can be identified;
- Please provide a contact address so that you can be contacted to request further information to verify your identity;
- Provide proof of your identity and address;
- State the right or rights that you wish to exercise.

I will respond to you within one month from when I receive your request.

How to make a complaint?

The GDPR also gives you the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioners' Office if you are in the UK, or with the supervisory authority of the Member State where you work, normally live or where the alleged infringement of data protection laws occurred. The Information Commissioner's Office can be contacted at <http://ico.org.uk/concerns/>.

You have the right to object to the use of your personal information for automated decision-making, please see 'your rights'.

Future Processing

I do not intend to process your personal information except for the reasons stated within this privacy notice. If this changes, this privacy notice will be amended and placed on the website, www.1cor.com or if I change chambers or domain name, it will be placed on the website on which I advertise my professional legal services.

Changes to this privacy notice

This privacy notice was published on 24 May 2018.

I continually review my privacy practices and may change this policy from time to time. When I do it will be placed on the website www.1cor.com or if I change chambers or domain name, it will be placed on the website on which I advertise my professional legal services.
